Teachers, students and administrators depend on technology every day. And technology depends on critical infrastructure.

E-Rate: Take advantage of this federal assistance program

E-Rate (also known as the Schools and Library Program of the Universal Service Fund) is a budget extender for Public K-12 schools and districts and nonprofit schools that need affordable access to telecommunications and Internet services. Through the federally funded E-rate program, schools are eligible to receive discounts between 20-85% on Vertiv UPS, power distribution, and racks/enclosures.

Check with your local Vertiv office to see if your solution qualifies for the E-Rate program.

Take advantage of Vertiv's free site assessment program

Receive assistance with planning appropriate power protection solutions to support your critical network equipment. Your site assessment report can help determine what you should publish on your next 470.

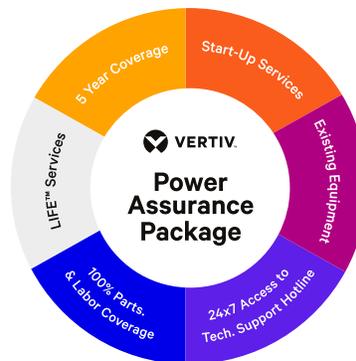

Meet with a local Vertiv representative who will walk the data center and provide a free consultation

- Review of existing or planned network equipment power requirements to determine overall power requirements and circuit capacity.
 - How much battery runtime do you need?
 - Will new gear require upgraded electrical circuits?
 - Do some IT stacks require high availability features and design?
- Survey of critical infrastructure through a thorough site walkthrough of the IT environment, server rooms, IDF's, and MDF's including:
 - UPS capacity, health and redundancy
 - Power generation capacity, health and redundancy
 - Monitoring tools
 - Single points of failure determining risk
